SMETHPORT VOTES FOR ELECTRICITY; 407 TO 77

OVERWHELMING VICTORY FOR PROGRESSIVE ELEMENT

The question of whether Smethport should have electricity or not was emphatically decided by the people by a vote of 407 for, and but 77 against.

Thus did the town take a long leap forward in the race with other municipalities of its size, and the result of which will be undoubtedly a big boom for local business and an added incentive for new industries to locate here.

It was another victory for the Conopus Club, and the men who led the electric light campaign have proved themselves to be the best of citizens, as they gave their time and money for a public benefit. To J. Clayton Backus, the "father of electricity" as he was the recognized head in Smethport, goes the bulk of praise rights. But each and every member of the Conopus Club and all who aided the campaign are entitled to the thanks of all local people.

They planned and waged a campaign the success of which is easily seen in plain, cold figures that showed overwhelming defeat for the ones who would hinder the town, rather than help it.

Not only did the men help to bring the voters to the polls yesterday by driving them there in autos, but the women were on hand even more willing and eager to do their part, also indicating that the newly-made citizens are proving their assertion that they made for many years in vain that they would be just as good voters and citizens as the males.

The plan of geting the voters out was systematically arranged. Before election day teams had been appointed to canvass the town, and sense the sentiment of the voters. In this way an idea was gotten as to those who were for the bonding of the borough for electricity, and those against.

Therefore, Tuesday the work was made comparatively easy.

At four o'clock in the afternoon of election day, Henry J. Rice, who was in charge of the teams, called all the captains together and by checking up their lists with the election lists discovered just who had voted and those who had not. Then an effort was made to get out the tardy ones in favor of the movement.

While the total registered vote is about 800 in town, the number of 484 for a special election is fair even considering the pertinence of the question at stake many of those who were much interested either neglected or forgot to go to the polls.

Quick work in counting the votes was done by the election board, as by half an hour after the voting closed word of the victory was spreading like wild-fire throughout the town.

The next move toward electrifying the town will be the action of the borough council at its next meeting. The regular meeting falls on the Fourth of July, but it is likely that if the amount of $40,000 is raised by subscriptions from citizens within a week or two that a special meeting of the council will be called.

Then will be decided one of the momentous phase of the question—that of the method of getting current here.

It is beleived judging from sentiments expressed at the polls yesterday by many persons, and also the opinion of the eletrical expert of the Westinghouse Company at Pittsburgh that the plan of bringing current here from Portville is the most pratical.

So many advantages are to be had, it is said, by transporting the current over the building of a local plant that is almost certain the borough council will decide upon transportation.

Next Monday work on the Fair Grounds race track will be begun in preparation for the training of a number of race horses, which will be brought here within a short time, and probably stay until fall.

The coming of these horses forecasts the largest and most attractive fair this fall that has ever taken place here. The committee has already booked some big attractions, including the Harry Copping Shows, which is a very high-class carnival, and this year will see the McKean County Fair more widely advertised than ever. According to Henry J. Rice, secretary, double the amount of posters and other advertising literature has been ordered.

The race horses which are to be trained here are those under the direction of the famous trainer, "Bill" Rogers, and will be run in practice by an assistant. Rogers does such work for many race horse owners throughout this section. Therefore, it is certain that with such a class of horses here, the local track will be in admirable shape by fall, and the races will be of the best!

The track now needs extensive filling in places, grading etc. After all is completed it will be one of the best hereabouts.

IT'S A GOOD THING IT WASN'T FILLED ANYHOW

Residents of East Main street were thrown into a panic for a short time on Tuesday evening about 7:30 o'clock at the sight of flames shooting from the front of a large gasoline truck at Main and Pine streets.

The driver, Ralph Provin, and "Tommy" Clark who were riding on the front seat jumped out and tried to smother the blaze in spite of the apparent danger of an explosion. They did not succeed immediatelly, however, and Francis Quirk obtained an extinguisher a tQuirk's Garage and drove rapidly to the scene of the fire.

A crowd had collected, and by the aid of several citizens and the use of the extinguisher, the blaze was smothered.

Then someone thought to explain that there was no gasoline in the main tank, only in the tank used for the truck's engine.

The machine was somewhat damaged about the seat and radiator, but was not put out of commission.

DERKIS BACK TO OLD JOB

Back at his old job as a machinists at Lewis Run and happy in his family circle once more, George Derkis, acquitted here last week of the murder of Jabe Red last fall, has started life over again.

Found by telephone at his father's home in Bradford, Derkis' general content and happiness was expressed by the sound of his voice.

"How does it feel t obe back home," he was asked.

"Mighty fine, I'll tell you," he answered.

"What do you expect to do now?"

"I'm going back to my oldjob. And I want to thank all the Smethport people, who helped me when I needed it for their favors and the trouble they went to. Tell the fellows at the jail I send them my regards, and hope that they will soon have as good luck as I had."

There are nine prisoners remaining at the Smethport jail, most of them being accused of larency. One of them, who has been eating querly for a time through nervousness, will be taken to Warren soon for treatment.

Is J. Clayton Backus smiling, now We'll say he is.

NEW G. O. P. CHAIRMAN HAS A GREAT RECORD

John T. Adams came into political prominence in 1908 when called upon by the late Senator William B. Allison, his fellow townsman of Dubuque, Iowa, to take charge of his last primary campaign for the senatorship. Mr. Adams' political activity prior to that time had been confined to an active local interest in party affairs. Senator Allison was being opposed for renomination by the able and resourceful Governor Cummins, now one of Mr. Adams' friends. The contest was one that aroused the most intense interest and activity throughout the state. So successful was the management of the Allison campaign that Mr. Adams gained a reputation as a leader and organizer which at once gave him a place of prominence in the politics of Iowa and the Middle West. His rise in the councils of the Republican party, state and national, has since that time been steady, until his election as national chairman to succeed Mr. Hays came about so naturally that no opposition was offered.

In 1921 Mr. Adams was elected national committeeman from Iowa; he is now serving his third four-year term as a member of the committee and his second term as vice chairman. In 1912 and 1916 he served as member of the executive committee, and in 1920 had charge of the western headquarters, by assignment of Chairman Hays, to whose administration Mr. Adams gave highly effective support.

The success achieved in the business world by the new Republican national chairman foreshadowed his achievements as a political organizer. He entered the Dubuque manufacturing and jobbing establishment of which he is now the head, as an office boy at $3 a week in 1881. Under his management it has grown to be one of the largest sash and door plants in the country, with branches in many cities of the Middle West and Southwest.

For many years Mr. Adams has been prominent in all the civic activities of Dubuque, where he enjoys the confidence and respect of the community in which he has always made his home. He has never been too deeply engrossed in business to take a hand in movements for the advancement of his city and state. Many years ago he organized in the suburbs of Dubuque a mission Congregational church, which has developed into a substantial church organization. He has served as president of the city's general hospital, and was for a number of years a member of the Dubuque school board. During the war he was a member of the state council of defense, directed the Red Cross drive at Dubuque, and was perhaps the most liberal contributor in the city to the various war funds.

MRS. ROGERS IS KILLED BY TRAIN

Struck by Pennsylvania train No. 503, within a few blocks of the station, Mrs. Sarah G. Rogers, widow of the late Hon. Lucius Rogers, met her death at Kane at 12:30 Friday afternoon. She was almost totally deaf and did not hear or see the aplate.

Engineer Chas. Coleman of Reproaching train until it was too novo, had no opportunity to stop the train, as he did not see the aged lady until the locomotive was almost upon her. Mrs. Rogers seemed to observe the coming train at the same time, but scarcely had time to realize her impending fate before she was struck. The engineer said that one more step would have taken Mrs. Rogers out of danger.

Mrs. Rogers was about 65 years of age and came to Smethport from Harrisburg, at the time of her marriage to the late Hon. Lucius Rogers, who founded the McKean County Miner in 1863, and was at the time of his marriage editor of this paper. She was his second wife.

Mr. Rogers was county treasurer at this time and at the close of his term of office, went to Kane where he founded the Kane Republican and lived there until his death on May 18, 1909.

Mrs. Rogers had made Kane her home since his death, and resided with her sister, Miss Ella Gratz.

Mrs. Rogers had many friends in Smethport who were sorrow-stricken at the news of her shocking death. Funeral services were held at St. John's Episcopal church, in Kane, Monday forenoon, and the remains were brought to Smethport and laid at rest in Rose Hill cemetery.

Surviving, aside from her sister, Miss Ella Gratz one brother and a sister, reside in Philadelphia and another sister in Sacketts Harbor, N. Y. Attorney H. S. Rogers of Mt. Jewett is a step-son, and Mrs. Lucy R. Shero of Greensboro, Pa.

Additional particulars regarding the terrible accident say that Mrs. Rogers body was badly mutilated. The top of her head cut off, lower jaw torn away, arms and legs crushed, in fact identification was difficult, and it was some minutes after the accident before the victim's remains were recognized.

Mrs. Rogers enjoyed health despite her declining years and the fact that her hearing was practically gone. This forenoon she walked to the business section of the city and after attending to her errands returned from the second trip when the accident happened.

To shorten her path she followed her usual custom and was taking a short cut via Edgar street. This street ends at Biddle, but for years many pedestrians have continued on across the tracks at that point, despite the fact that the street was never opened. The tracks to the east of the point make a decided curve and being unable to hear the approaching train it is thought that Mrs. Rogers in her hurry to reach home did not take the precaution of looking to see if the track was clear. She must also have been mamindful of the time of day as her home is situated directly across the tracks and for years she has seen the "mail" arrive at about that time.

ENGLISH GIRL'S PERILOUS TRIP

Local Visitor on Corona When That Ship Was Nearly Sunk by Iceberg Near Titantic

Having experienced some of the many perils which still exist for the Atlantic Ocean traveler on her voyage aboard the S. S. Corona from England to New York, Miss Marguerite Thackeray, of Birmingham, England, now visiting Mr. and Mrs. H. G. German here related many interesting facts concerning her trip and about the state affairs abroad several days ago in an interview for The Miner.

The same fate—that of striking an iceberg off Newfoundland—which befell the ill-fated Titanic and also another merchant ship a few days ago—was very narrowly escaped by the Corona bearing Miss Thackeray. Only the untmost vigilance on the part of the officers and crew prevented a possible tragedy.

Telling of her experiences Miss Thackeray said:

"It was on the night we were nearing the Newfoundland side when suddenly everyone noticed a strange drop in the temperature. Soon all had on overcoats and wraps and were pacing the decks to keep warm. Later the passengers were ordered to go below into the salon. There we stayed cooped up not knowing at what minute we might strike something that would sink the ship.

"But nothing happend except the continued low temperature and the bitter cold. We heard afterward that we passed 200 yards from an immense iceberg, and that the captain had kept such a close watch over the ship that he had not left his post for forty-eight hours."

JOHN T. ADAMS NAMED NEW G. O. P. CHAIRMAN

An outstanding characteristic of Mr. Adams is his intense Americanism which has always been the inspiration of his activities in politics. He is one political leader who has never been known to have an ambition for official preferment. On both his mother and father's side he is of colonial New 'nland descent. For nine generations his father's ancestors lived in Medfield and Franklin, Mass. His father was a prominent Massachusetts Whig, a lawyer of Lowell Mass., and a member of the legislature of that state in Daniel Webster's day. The elder Adams came to Dubuque in 1857 and identified himself with the young Republican party. In 1862 he was defeated for the congressional nomination by a narrow margin by William B. Allison, whose senatorial campaign of nearly a half century later brought the younger Adams into the national political arena. The senior Adams was a Republican speaker and leader throughout his mature lifetime. He served as provost marshal in Iowa during the Civil War.

John T. Adams was born in Dubuque, Iowa on December 22, 1862. He attended the Dubuque public schools, and graduated from the high school in 1881. While he did not pursue his academic work further, he has been a student ever since. A lover of books he has collected one of the best private libraries in Iowa. An extensive traveler, he developed an interest in foreign languages and reads French and German almost as readily as English. He has been especially intersted in history and in economic questions. Few men in national politics have a wider range of information on fundamental and current political questions than has Mr Adams.

In his methods of management Mr. Adams is noted for the quiet and easy but effective way in which he secures results. In securing harmony and co-operation among his associates in political work he has been especially effective. The machinery of national Republican organization will probably move, under his direction, steadily but quietly toward party unity and success. Mr. Adams is a warm admirer and enthusiastic supporter of President Harding and his policies. He is an intense American nationalist and a staunch advocate of policies contributing to the upbuilding of America first.

Mr. Adams is married and has three children ;Elizabeth, 17 years old; Susan, 13, and Paul, 9. Mrs. Adam in an enthusiastic Republican, but without special liking for political activities. The home life of the Adams family is ideal. The home in Dubuque is an attractive one.

Mr. Adams will spend his time at Washington and in visiting party leaders throughout the country. Headquarters will be maintained for the present at the national capital. He expects to establish close working relations with the Republican congressional and senatorial committees, the headquarters which are also in Washington.

Someone has accused the school teachers of Morrisville, Pa., of being unclean and failing to properly bathe. Sort of a "dirty" trick, eh?

They apparently ought to invent silencers, not only for army guns but also the navy—admirals.

Gallagher did have tough luck in last Sunday's game. He almost lost a finger by a pitched ball and then the "ump" wouuldn't believe it.

PENNSYLVANIA FORESTRY ASSOCIATION MEETS AT PITTSBURGH

Harrisburg, Pa., June 14.—Plans for the establishment of the Allegheny National Forest on the headwaters of the Allegheny river in northwestern Pennsylvania will be one of the important matters discussed at the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Forestry Association in Pittsburgh, June 16 and 17. The pending nation-wide study of forest conditions in this country by the United States Chamber of Commerce will also be considered by the convention.

Dr. J. T. Rothrock, a member of the State Forest Commission, will discuss Federal control of State lands, and a representative of the U. S. Forest Service will describe the system under which the Government will acquire and administer the 1,000,000 acres it will purchase in Pennsylvania.

Gifford Pinchot, Chief State Forester, will talk on "Burning Up Business." Other members of the Pennsylvania Department of Forestry who will be on the program are J. S. Illick, chief of the Office of Research; George H. Wirt chief of the Bureau of Forest Protection and Major E. A. Ziegler, Director State Forest Academy.

DOES NOT THINK MAN LISTED IS A SLACKER

Olean, June 9.—Joseph A. Smith was no slacker, in the opinion of Mrs. Gallagher, 202 Coleman street, although his name is listed.

Smith had a room in the Gallagher home when the United States entered the World War. He registered in this city, but, according to Mrs. Gallagher, he left here for his home in Pennsylvania, to enter the service, before he was called by the local board.

Mrs. Gallagher never heard from him after he left, and she doesn't remember the name of the Pennsylvania town, but she is convinced that the young man went from home at soldier.

Investigation today showed that practically all the names listed for the district are those of negroes from the south or foreigners who were transient employes here.

THE RAILROAD DEBT AND OUR BUSINESS

Washington, June 16.—Certainly no one will question the fairness of the statement by President Samuel Rea that the government could help the roads by paying the amount due them. Ever since the government incurred obligations to the roads as a result of taking them over and operating them, the payment of the money due has been deferred by means of that endless system of red tape that characterizes most governmental business. No individual business man would expect to get along successfully if his creditors indefinetly postponed payment. The railroads are in a similar situation The government acting through the Wilson administration, took over the roads without the consent of the owners. Just obligations accruing as a consequence of that action will ultimately be paid, but what the roads want is payment at a time when they are in such dire need of cash.

Public Markets For All the Large Cities

ESTABLISHMENT of central markets for perishable food products in all large cities, and the setting up of a federal licensing system applicable to all dealers in such foods at those markets, is proposed by the federal trade commission in its annual report to congress.

The commission's conclusions are based on an investigation covering many months, and it declares that federal action is necessary to obtain effective regulation and to avoid unfair and wasteful practices with the consequent effect on prices.

In the present system the commission sees as a hindrance to the proper passage of perishables from the producer to the consumer certain intertrade dealings which, it believes, should be eliminated, and it suggests that the handling of these products be surrounded by numerous regulations and restrictions, such as the recording of available supplies, the 'dating' of cold storage periods, and provisions for auction marketing of food products.

The commission says that "the needed reforms can hardly be expected to be accomplished by the initiative of the dealers," and asserts that state and municipal authorities lack adequate power to effectively regulate the handling of the food supplies.

Although co-operation of state and local authorities and railroads might accomplish the ends sought, the commission believes this plan does not hold out much hope for a satisfactory solution of the problem

TRAINING CAMP FOR YOUNG MEN

TO BE OPENED AT CAMP MEADE, MARYLAND, ON AUGUST 1ST.

NO CHARGES WILL BE MADE

Splendid Opportunity For The Youth Of The State To Secure Valuable And Healthy Experience.

A free summer camp, with all expenses included, railroad fare paid, is offered this summer by the government to 1,200 young men between the ages of 16 and 35 who reside in Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia and the District of Columbia. This Citizens' Military Training Camp will last for thirty days, commencing on August 1st, and will be held at Camp Meade, Maryland, about half way between Baltimore and Washington.

Attendance at the camp will not cost one cent to any of the candidates who are selected to go. They may either pay their railroad fare from their homes to Camp Meade and be reimbursed as soon as they arrive at the rate of five cents for each mile traveled, allowing an ample margin for meals and other expenses en route, or if they prefer they will be furnished with a ticket before they leave home and allowed not to exceed $3.00 a day for their meals while traveling.

Upon arriving at Camp Meade each man will be supplied with a complete set of uniforms and equipment. He will then be assigned to quarters in comfortable permanent barracks. When mess call sounds he will find a well-cooked meal all ready for him paid for by the government and prepared by army cooks who are now going through a special course of training at the Camp Meade Cooks' and Bakers' School to prepare them for duty at the camp. All the mess attendants will be supplied from Regular Army regiments stationed at Camp Meade. Should he have need of it at any time he will find a well-equipped hospital free of charge with competent army surgeons and dentists.

In return for this he will be called upon to devote his mornings to military drills and exercises under the direction of officers specially selected from the Infantry School at Camp Benning, Georgia for duty as instructors, and will be encouraged to spend his afternoons in athletics and games under the supervision of officers specially trained to supervise such activities.

While he will live in permanent barracks, he will frequently take short hikes through the beautiful rolling and wooded country of Southern Maryland, carrying the infantry soldier's field equipment and ending the march by going into camp and spending the night under canvas if the weather is good. Some of his meals in the field he will cook for himself in his "mess kit" and others will be served to him from rolling kitchens.

The military part of the day's program will include demonstrations of all the modern military weapons, such as Tanks, Artillery, machine guns and trench mortars by veteran regular troops stationed at Camp Meade, as well as the actual drills in which the candidates will take part. It is hoped that they will become sufficiently interested to affiliate with the National Guard or Organized Reserve when they return to their homes, thus fitting themselves to be leaders instead of followers if they should ever be called upon to serve their country in case of another war, but attendance at the camp involves absolutely no obligation, moral or legal, to perform any further military service.

Off duty hours will be well provided for, and candidates will be encouraged to spend all their time in camp by providing them with amusements so that they will not want to leave it. There will be movies and other forms of entertainment every evening and frequent concerts by some of the fine Regular Army bands stationed at Camp Meade. The religious atmosphere will not be neglected. Two chaplains will devote their entire time to the Citizens' Camp and to the management of a service club where candidates will be entertained in their spare time. Other chaplains of six different denominations on duty with regular troops of the camp will be available for advice and counsel.

The Military Training Camps Association, composed of graduates of previous similar camps held at Plattsburg, New York, and other places, are in active charge of receipt and forwarding of applications through their nearest local representative, Major Horace B. Hare, 1300 Commercial Trust Building, Philadelphia, but if he cannot be conveniently reached, information and application blanks can be secured and arrangements made to obtain without charge the very simple physical examination by writing to the Commanding General, Third Corps Area, Fort Howard, Maryland.

Applications should be forwarded as early as possible, as the final selection of applicants must be made well in advance of the opening of the camp on August 1st. In case the number of applicants exceeds the capacity of the camp, vacancies will be apportioned by counties in proportion to their population, and the individuals selected by a method which will insure that each locality and each individual applicant has an equal chance.

FARMER'S AUTO TOUR TO STATE COLLEGE CHANGED

The automobile tour of the farmers of McKean County to the Pennsylvania State College has been changed so that the plans are as follows:

To meet in Port Allegany, at 8 a. m. Tuesday, June 21. To proceed from there in a group through Potter County, Tioga County, into Lycoming County the first day and stop in and around Williamsport over night. Some families have planned on taking a small tent along and camping for the night along some nice little stream. This can be very highly recommended. Those who do not wish to carry tents can stop either in Williamsport at the hotel or some little town outside of Williamsport. The next morning the party will proceed through Clinton County into Center County arriving at about noon. There are meetings around over all the different parts of the farms so that all kinds of work, especially the experiments, will be explained to the farmers as they go over the 1200 acre farm.

Anyone can return when they desire to but most of the men are planning to return on Friday morning. Forty-four farmers made this trip last year and every one of them feels that it was a very valuable trip. Make the trip and judge for yourself.

FLOWER MISSION DAY HELD IN COUNTY HOME

Appeal For Membership to W. C. T. U. Is Made by Local Body

The Smethport W. C. T. U. held an interesting meeting last Thursday afternoon in honor of Jennie Cassidy's birthday. She was the founder of Flower Mission Day.

After a pleasing program, a delicious picnic supper was served.

Each guest brought some dainty or flowers, which were divided among the inmates, and a tray sent to each one.

It is pointed out that Flower Mission Day means more than merely sending flowers to the sick but records many deeds of kindness which are treasured highly in the minds of the afflicted ones.

An appeal is made to all local women to join in such work by becoming members of the W. C. T. U.

Well, the old world is going to be conquered once more. Commencement is over and another herd of mighty graduates have been let loose.

RUSHFORD YOUTH'S BODY BROUGHT FROM TULSA

Shot During Race Riots in West, and Died on Way to Hospital

The body of Ernest Austin arrived at Rushford from Tulsa, Oklahoma, Tuesday and was taken to the home of I. B. Worden where the funeral was held Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Josephs came from Oklahoma with the remains.

On the morning of June 1 Mr. Austin was on his way to work and stopped on the street to view the havoc wrought by the fire in the race riot of the night before. While standing there the rioting broke out anew and a bullet struck him in the chest and passed clear through his body. He died on the way to the hospital.

Among those out-of-town who attended the funeral were Mrs. Lottie Vandermark and Mr. and Mrs. Phoenix of Shinglehouse, Pa., his brother, Bertie Austin, wife and son of Norwalk, Conn., his son, Benjamin Austi, of Franklinville and Mrs. Alice Wildrick of Lyndon.

Mr. Austin was a member of Jamestown Aerie, No. 816, Fraternal Order of Eagles and R. G. Owens, John Jenkins, Frank Wallace, Herbert Phillips and Edward Doane of Jamestown attended the funeral and gave a brief burial service.

Burial was made in the White Cemetery at Rushford.

BRADFORD TRADE WEEK WAS A GREAT SUCCESS

Will No Doubt Prove of Great Benefit to City in Matter of Business

Bradford Trade Week closed on Sunday when the Bradford churches invited worshipers to their services. With the exception of showers Saturday, the weather for the entire Bradford week was splendid and allowed the shoppers of nearby towns and cities an opportunity to motor to Bradford for a visit to its metropolitan stores, and they were benefitted by their visits, for they were able to buy the best goods possible at the most reasonable prices.

Bradford Week it is believed, will have good results, for it has taught the shoppers of nearby places that it is a good town to shop in—if not the best—and that is what the merchants wished to impress upon these people.

Band concerts were provided in the park each day, while there were automobile and motorcycle races and automobile parades, the last to show the various makes of machines on sale in this city. Altogether Bradford Trade Week was a grand success.

KANE AEROPLANE WRECKED AT READING LAST WEEK

Kane, June 9.—Many Kane people have been wondering why the aeroplane did not arrive here upon schedule time. The report of an accident gained circulation but this could not be verified until this morning, when Charles McDade arrived in the city on the flyer. He had gone to New York with Jay Evans and was filling the post of mechanician on the return trip. It was learned that the plane was quite badly wrecked at Reading, but both men escaped injury. An over-night stop was made in Reading and as the men were taking off at 6:15 Tuesday morning something went wrong with the motor when about 50 feet up; the plane tilted and crashed to earth, striking against a fence, breaking the propeller, one wing and otherwise damaging the plane. Report is that it is pretty badly wrecked. Mr. Evans remained with the plane until the insurance can be adjusted and repairs made and expects to complete the trip in a few days.

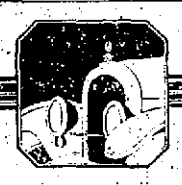
FOR SEVENTY YEARS NORDYKE & MARMON COMPANY HAS STOOD FOR HONORABLE MANUFACTURING, FOR CLEAN, FAIR DEALING AND FOR BUSINESS FAIR PLAY



At Your Door
if you request it—a $3985 Marmon

Visualize a 20% saving. Ask your family to join you. Then drive away for a comparative demonstration.

THE Marmon 34 at $3985 is the identical $5000 car. And we sell it under the same plan of demonstration. We still repeat: "If it can't outstrip other cars you have in mind, don't consider it."

On a road demonstration we want you to see how it reacts under the 12 vital tests of performance. Compare its response with that of other cars you know.

We furnish you with a Score-card—a professional method of judging, as used by automotive engineers.

Thus you are able to apply the same standards of critical comparison used by experts. You find it easy to compare performance this way. As easy as comparing price.

A demonstration places you under no obligation. We do not importune you to buy. As a matter of fact, there is an inevitable shortage of Marmons this year.

So our aim now is to acquaint more people with the Marmon 34 regardless of sales. And to explain Advanced Engineering and Stabilized Design. Hitherto our appeal has been to a limited few. Now the circle of acquaintance is broadened.

Once you become acquainted with the Marmon 34, we know you'll concede this opinion, as most men do: that it is the supreme offering of the year. And as sensational in performance as in price.

We invite you to visit us today, or telephone for a demonstration.

EDITORIAL.

Smethport spoke in terms not to be mistaken, Tuesday. The spirit of enterprise is still present in the lives of our people and they took a great step forward when they voted so overwhelmingly in favor of equipping the town with electrical service.

Smethport will never be a "dead" town as long as this spirit is evident. The town always "hits in pinches."

SUPPORT THE BAND

There is one organization in Smethport which, besides being a credit to the community, is one of the most reliable whenever there is a function of any kind at which its presence will lend additional interest.

This is the Smethport Band.

Ever ready to help at a moment's notice and without any dissension or grumbling by its members, the band may well be termed a most essential body in the town's welfare. Because in towns of this size nothing advertises so widely as the musical organization representing it.

Consider the Saturday night concerts on the Courthouse lawn. Each member of the organization gives up the major portion of his evening to amuse the general public. The attendance at these concerts indicates how well the local people appreciate these entertainments. That is well, and it should be, as the music furnished is of good variety and apparently well selected.

But the chief reason the people should support the band is because it always supports every public occasion by its presence.

Now the band needs new uniforms and is holding a dance at Galco Park on Friday evening for the purpose of raising the necesary funds.

This is an opportunity for our people to give their hearty support to the organization in a definite way by presenting themselves at the dance and making the new uniforms possible.

THE IRREPRESSIBLE SIMS

Admiral Sims' explanation from over-seas that he was misquoted in the international report of what has come to be known as the "American jackass" speech in London, puts a different light on the naval controversy. However, his disawoval can hardly be reason for Secretary Denby to nullify the order revoking Admiral Sims' leave and recalling him.

The truth is htat Admiral Sims, always outspoken and oftimes to the point of great indiscretion, is forever under suspicion. Another officer of the Navy might say more and get less in the way of a reprimand. Sims, by reason of past performances must stand so straight that he leans a bit backward.

His assertion that the statement as actually made, did not differ from the statement he has made many times in America and even printed in his book, seems explicit enough.

He must—and should—face his chief, however.

THE TRAINING CAMPS

Congress and the War Department are working at cross purposes in regard to the military training camps—congress to curtail, the department to enlarge their usefulness.

Through a vigorous publicity campaign conducted by army officers, widespread interest has been awakened in the training camp idea. From this publicity the impression has been gained that there is no limit to the number of young men the camps are prepared to accommodate, when as a matter of fact the number is relatively small, because the appropriation for the camps is small.

It is a matter of regret that a sufficient appropriation is not available to permit the camps to accept all who apply for training. The Plattsburg plan is a good one, as was proved when the war came. Since the country is not to have universal training, the wise thing is to develop on generous lines camps for the training of commissioned and non-commissioned officers. That is the only way the government will get the basic material for a reserve army worthy of the name. —[Lancaster Era.

CONGRESS SHOUL PASS ANTI-LYNCHING LAW

The Republican national platform of 1920 pledged national anti-lynching legislation and this question is one of the most important demanding the attention of Congress.

Anti-lynching laws will not prove to be an absolute preventive of lynching,—the most to be hoped is that they will serve as a deterrent,—but they will serve a highly important purpose in giving formal expression to national abhorrence of a practise which frequently disgraces this nation before the world.

The most recent outbreak of this character is that at Tulsa, Oklahoma. It is the culmination of many months of persistent preaching of race hatred. For the crime of an individual—a crime for which an individual, rather than a race must be held reponsible,—a general attack upon a negro settlement in the community was made, with the result that seventyfive people were killed and millions of dollars worth of property damage was don.

The first lesson of this is that the law-abiding elements in any comunity should array themselves against lawlessness whenever its ugly head is raised. The first responsibility rests upon the law enforcing officials of the locality affected. Unless there be failure in performanc of duty by local officials at the crucial moment, seldom will a community be compelled to submit to the domination of a mob. And when a mob gains the upper hand in a community, no one can foretell to what lengths it will carry its work of arson, rapine and murder.

HELP FOR PUEBLO.

The American Red Cross, with its usual promptnes, is standing by to help the flood sufferers in Colorado, and President Harding has issued an appeal to the nation to stand by that organization with money and supplies. Contributions, he reminds the public, can be sent either through the office of any local chapter or direct to the Red Cross headquarters in Washington.

The devastation wrought by this great flood is tremendous, and the reconstruction process will be long and costly. Property has been destroyed, homes wrecked, lives lost. Food, clothing, and shelter are needed. America has always shown itself quick and generous when a great need arises. This case will prove no exception.

MAGAZINE PAYS TRIBUTE TO MR. AND MRS. WRIGHT

An interesting account of the wedding of Miss Victoria Hewitt, daughter of Mrs. John Hewitt of Smethport, to Preston F. Wright on June 6 is given in the Musical Messenger, of Cincinnati, O., to which Mr. Wright has been a contributor for many years.

The account in part is as follows:

"Our comrades readers of THE MUSICAL MESSENGER will, we know, join us most heartily in congratulations and best wishes to our friend, Preston F. Wright, upon the announcement of his marriage to Miss Victoria Hewitt, of New York City.

Mr. Wright is the gentleman who, for many years, has been regularly contributing such interesting and instructive articles and stories to The Musical Messenger. Mr. Wright has evolved a philosophy of sound production for both vioce and instrument that have been confirmed by observation and experiment. In other words, Mr. Wright is a thinker and a producer. His writings on musical subjects have proved to be worth while.

Mrs. Wright is a traveler and lecturer. During the war she was considered one of the most effective speakers, appearing for the Red Cross, the Liberty Loan organization and other war relief committees.

"Alaska Today," with its vast undeveloped resources, has eben her theme during the season that has just closed. This is a strikingly interesting series of illustrated lectures, which have been given to audiences representing the best of New York City's social and intelectual life.

Mr. Wright is no stranger to Alaska. His professional duties having already taken him there on three different engineering projects. He is a member of the American Association of Engineers and is at present enggaged on river and harbor work at Baltimore, Md.

Selected Verses

WHEN SHE COMES BACK.

When she comes back again we'll play,
Just she and I as oft before;
We'll marshal, in sedate array,
Her paper dollies on the floor—
I'll hide from her behind the door
As often in that distant Day.
Before she left to romp no more—
When she comes back again we'll play.

When she comes back again we'll sing
The nursery rhymes she taught me,
The one about a gentle king
Who bent his royal buckled knee
And woed a maid of poverty,
Then won her with a magic ring—
The best of all it used to be!
When she comes back again we'll sing.

When she comes back again we'll weep—
Shed bitte r tears, aye, that I know!
She'll come when memories softly creep
From out the golden Long Ago—
She'll join me by the fire's glow
And then, when fade the shadows deep,
She'll leave these empty arms, and O,
When she comes back again we'll weep!

ENGLISH GIRL HERE TELLS OF EXPERIENCES ON VOYAGE

Telling of the conditions in England and Ireland in comparison to those of our own country, Miss Thackeray said that the food restrictions which were in effect in England during the war were just being lifted, that everything possible was under heavy taxation, and that many other marks of the world war were still in evidence.

Because of the strike of the marine workers, the passengers were lightered from the docks at Liverpool to the Corona which stood off from shore. Therefore the waving of good-byes from the bow are a thing of the past, at least just now. When the ship touched at Ireland, it again stood off from land because of the troubles there. Lighters were again used to bring the passengers abroad.

Miss Thackeray, who by the way, is no relation of the great author, but who is a typical Englishwoman with alert manner and expressive eyes stated her surprise at the recovry this country has made following the war. She has already found the delight that all women would naturally have in the shops of New York and Phildelphia, where she visited before coming here.

She has no idea when she will return to England, but expects to be fairly well Americanized and wants to see much of the United States before she dos go back to stay—if that time ever arrives.

Sir. Robert Jones, K. B. E., Lord and Lady Mason, of Birmingham, Lieutenant C. R. H. Taylor, Captain C. N. Canning, Captain Percy Kitchin, and Madge Frederick, the celebrated dancer, were among Miss Thackeray's fellow passengers. She was closely associated with Lord and Lady Mason, they being of her natve city.

MORE THAN MERE BUSINESS

Modern Railroading Has Been Lifted to a Sphere Little Short of the Miraculous.

A cycle of railroad history has revolved before our very eyes. Three epochal golden spikes (at least) have been hammered in by (at least) three gilded sledges—and all within the span of a little more than half a century.

What is probably to be the last great "trunk railroad" in North America is being built by the United States in Alaska. This "government railway" had its first spike, a gold one, sledged on April 29, 1917, by Martha White.

Another gold spike was driven on that momentous day, May 10, 1869, near Ogden, Utah, when the transcontinental Union Pacific line was completed, uniting beyond question of chance the fortunes of the Atlantic and Pacific sides of the republic.

The gold spike custom (or habit as it came to be with the irrepressible builders of the continent) began in 1852 to assume significance. For upon Christmas eve, not only the nation's but the world's first "trunk line" was completed at a little forgotten hamlet near Wheeling, W. Va., Roseby's Rock.

The romance of railroads! Who that lies him down to slumber in New York intending and expecting to arise refreshed in Chicago, can dare affirm that railroading is a business, a commercial enterprise! It is, rather, a miracle an Alladinic phantasy!—Christian Science Monitor.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Johnsonburg, Pa., June 11, 1921.

Dear Sir: T

I notice in your paper of June 2 where you have in your posselon a couple of receipes for making home brew. I lost a receipe of this character some time ago, not in Smethport, but while at Brockwayville, Pa., so I can't say that my receipe found its way to Smethport. However it may be possible that it did, and at any event I would be pleased if you would send me one of the recipes as Mr. Gregory of the PRESS who is a friend of mine and myself could use the receipe to good advantage, both being unusually fond of productions incidental to the character of the aforsaid receipes.

Respectfully,
Charles McBride,

LARGE CLASS GRADUATES AT BRADFORD HIGH SCHOOL

Diplomas were awarded to 105 graduates of Bradford High School. The exercises were held in the High School auditorium with numerous friends and relatives in attendance.

Orations were delivered by Hazel Shelgren, valedictorian of the class, and Helen Cleveland, salutatorian; and by Miss Laura Longo, a commercial graduate and Miss Naomi Kopanske of the college preparatory department. These four members of the class had the highest scholastic standing in their respective departments.

Dr. Robert Kerr, vice president of the Board of Public School Directors, presented the diplomas, Dr. Archie McAlpin, the president being unable to perform the function. Dr. Kerr's remarks to the graduating class were brief and most appropriate.

Rev. Fred R. McArthur, pastor of the First Baptist church, pronounced the invocation at the opening of the exercises. In addition to the orations by honor students, and presentation diplomas, the program included: piano solos Miss Wilma Headstrom and Miss Elizabeth Day; a vocal solo by Miss Bernice Hollis; and selections by the Hi-Y orchestra and the High School Mandolin club. At the close of the exercises the graduates joined in singing the 1921 class song.

DEER COMES TO OLEAN MAN'S BACK DOOR

Olean, June 13.—Ex-Senator I. N. Godfrey of the Dugan Road, reported Saturday that a big der came within a few feet of the rear door of his home. The animal dashed away when he tried to approach it, said Mr. Godfrey. There have been a number of deer in the hills just south of the city this spring, but none have come so close to the center of the city. The animal was a fine specimen, according to the ex-senator.

CASH FOR GASOLINE

Notice has been sent to the general public that in the future cash must be paid for gasoline at the garages for James Quirk & Sons and the Smethport Garage.

The action was taken following the demands on the garages by the refineries for cash for all gasoline delivered aand because of the cash terms in which some of the automobile companies are quoting their prices on cars and accessories.

Canada to Develop Mussel.

Canada is about to make capital out of a substitute for the oyster which is found along the Atlantic coast, chiefly in New Brunswick. It is a mussel which is by no means a new article of diet to the people of Canada. Its delicacy of flavor and high food value have been much advertised since the establishment of government investigation and experiment. A survey of the mussel beds of the St. Croix river, which constitutes the boundary between New Brunswick and Maine, has occupied the attention of a scientist of the council for three years, and it is expected that this year will see the satisfactory conclusion of the research. The sea mussel cannot be produced in fresh water, so that there is no possibility of developing an industry in the Great Lakes. It is believed that there are possibilities, however, of the development of fresh-water clams there in the near future.

TOBACCO'S FOES LOSING GROUND

Canvass of 7,847 Editors Shows 7,393 Communities Against Abolishing Weed.

ANTIS LOSE THREE STATES.

Utah, Under Mormon Influence, Only Commonwealth to Adopt Prohibition Measure During Year.

"Is tobacco going to have its scalp added to the belt of the prohibitionist beside that of the lamented but as yet not altogether late alcohol?" is the question asked by Garet Smith in an article in the current issue of Leslie's Magazine."

The writer reaches the conclusion that while there has been increased agitation and legislative activity on the subject of tobacco following the success of the drive for prohibition of liquor the efforts of reformers seeking to abolish tobacco have no general support. This opinion is based on the results of the questionnaires on the subject sent out to newspaper editors of the country by the Press Service Company of New York City.

The questions asked were:

(1) Do you favor the enactment of laws prohibiting the personal use of tobacco by adults?

(2) In your judgment does the general sentiment of your community favor such legislation?

(3) Is the use of tobacco personally objectionable to you?

No arguments accompanied the questions and from their form it was impossible for any editor to determine the attitude of the questioners.

Out of 12,518 editors questioned, 7,847 replied according to the summary given. These editors, it is estimated, represent a combined circulation of 21,870,046. Of the 7,847 editors replying, 7,393, or 95 per cent, represent public sentiment in their communities as opposed to anti-tobacco legislation. Only 280 editors, or 3 per cent of those replying believed there was any considerable sentiment favorable to tobacco prohibition. There were 174, or 2 per cent, in doubt, while 20 failed to record their judgment.

Editors' Judgment Unbiased.

"It is of special interest to note that 569 editors in answering the first question, personally favored such legislation, although only 269 of them reported that public opinion also favored the prohibition of tobacco an indication of the conscientious effort made by the editors to distinguish public opinion from their own personal opinions," the article continues.

"The highest percentage of replies reporting public opinion favorable to prohibition of tobacco came from Utah, where 42 per cent of the editors thought the public were for such a movement. Utah is the only state which has since adopted an anti-cigarette law. The result was forecast by several of the editors who stated that the influence of the Mormon Church was against tobacco. The Mormon Church is also strong in Idaho, which is the other state where the use of tobacco was recently prohibited, but the governor has signed the bill just passed, in which the prohibitory legislation is repealed. In this state 89 per cent of the editors estimate sentiment in their communities as against tobacco prohibition, which, nevertheless, is 6 per cent below the average reported opposition.

"The legislature of Tennessee some weeks ago passed and the governor has signed a bill repealing the anti-cigarette law of that state. The questionnaire showed 93 per cent of its editors believed the public against anti-tobacco legislation. The legislature of Arkansas has also passed a bill repealing its anti-cigarette law. In this state 94 per cent of the editors reported against tobacco prohibition.

Arizona's Practical Joke.

"A bill, introduced in the current session of the legislature of Arizona to prohibit smoking in public dining rooms and other public places, was first amended to prohibit the consumption in public of peanuts, chewing gum, tea and coffee and then defeated by the senate. The questionnaire returns from that state were 92 per cent 'no.'

"In Iowa where the 'no's' were 95 per cent a bill to repeal the anti-cigarette law has been passed and signed by the governor.

"A bill to repeal the anti-cigarette law in Kansas, with 89 per cent 'no's,' is receiving the attention of its legislature. Last year a petition for a referendum in Oregon to prohibit the use of tobacco failed of sufficient signatures to bring the question to a vote, and 95 per cent of the editors declare their public against legislation. In Oklahoma an anti-cigarette bill has been reported unfavorably in the house. The editors of that state reported 94 per cent against its public support.

"Outside of Utah, where Mormon influence predominates," the article concludes, "the anti-tobacco movement appears, as in the case of Tennessee, Arkansas and Iowa, to be losing ground and is not to any considerable extent supported by the people."

The friends of tobacco feel particularly elated over this showing, inasmuch as 1920-21 was a maximum year in legislative circles with 42 state legislatures in session and the tobacco subject received an unusual amount of consideration.

NEWS from the WORLD of SPORTS

The undefeated Oil Country Stars came rampantly to town, Sunday under the leadership of that tried and true generalissimo, Sam Cunningham, who would rather beat Smethport than the New York Giants. The Rixford outfit was superbly confident until the game had progressed an inning, when they made the discovery, apparently for the first time that they had a real ball team to defeat.

Their process of reasoning was simple enough—Rixford had beaten the Franklinville outfit to a pulp, whereas the said Franklinville had done likewise to Smethport. Moral: Smethport has the E. P. sign plastered all over 'em. Watch us wallop 'em.

One of the gentlemen who threw a flock of monkey-wrenches into this train of reasoning was named Herb Haines. He is a pitcher by occupation. There were eight other gentlemen concerned in this laudable attempt to point out the faults in Rixford's reasoning.

Seriously, it was a fine game of baseball with every player in the game going at top speed. Haines had the visitors at his mercy, two of the hits credited against him being of a doubtful variety, while the grand total was only four.

Peeler, the promising youngster, caught a remarkably good game. Denning displayed some sensational speed on the paths. Gallagher made three of Smethport's ten runs and for Rixford, Keane, the famous one-armed player, did some wonderful fielding—these were the high lights in a game that resulted 10 to 3 in Smethport's favor.

Danny Bernard of Eldred umpired the balls and strikes end with satisfaction to both teams and ditto goes for Fred Sherer, who gave the base decisions.

The following box score furnishes the remaining details.

Durable

Life-long roof service under exacting conditions, life-long weather protection, life-long attractiveness and life-long fire-resistance—such is the service of the Vulcanite Hexagon Slab Shingle.

For it is made from tough fibrous felt thoroughly saturated with asphalt—making it waterproof and durable. It is surfaced with crushed slate, either in a slate green or deep red color—making it attractive and fire-resisting.

Don't buy a roofing that will not give you these four roofing qualities.

Improved Roads

MUCH MONEY FOR IMPROVING

Over $400,000,000 Expended on Rural Roads and Bridges During Calendar Year of 1919.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

During the calendar year 1919, 48 States of the Union expended over $400,000,000 on their rural roads and bridges, the bureau of public roads of the United States Department of Agriculture recently announced. This total is made up of the actual cash expenditures for such items as labor, materials, supervision and administration, amounting to $389,455,931, and convict labor and statute labor, the value of which, not definitely known, is estimated at about $32,000,000. So far as possible, all expenditures on city streets within incorporated towns and cities and all items of sinking-fund payments or the redemption and interest payments on road and bridge bonds have been excluded.

The road and bridge expenditures for 1919 show an increase of approximately 33 1-3 per cent over those of 1918 and 70 per cent over those of 1914. More striking, however, is the increase in the proportion of the total funds supervised by the several state highway departments. In 1918 the expenditures by or under the supervision of the state highway departments amounted to $117,285,268, while the local road funds, over which they exercised no control whatever, amounted to $168,812,925. In 1919, however, the state highway departments supervised the expenditure of $200,292,694 as against the total of $189,163,237 expended by the local road and bridge authorities.

TREES BEAUTIFY OUR ROADS

Enthusiasm Displayed All Over Country in Campaign for "Roads of Remembrance."

Motor travelers all over the country have stimulated a contagious interest in planting trees by the roadsides. The Federation of Women's Clubs, which was one of the first national organizations to assist in this work, has planted many trees along sections of the Lincoln highway, writes Victoria Faber Stevenson in Sinclair's Magazine. Today it is beautifying many roads by planting trees in memory of the men who served in the World war. In fact, enthusiasm for roadside tree planting is evident all over the country in the widespread interest which is taken in "Roads of Remembrance."

Patriotic and civic organizations, women's clubs and boy scouts' units are providing miles of roadway with young oaks and elms. These sturdy trees, which will perpetuate the memory of the men who took up arms for America are also giving the roads beauty and individuality.

Perhaps the most unique work of this character which is reported by the American Forestry association is being done in Georgia around the city of Macon. There the woman's auxiliary of the chamber of commerce is planting a huge cross of trees in honor of the men and women who went to war from their vicinity.

NUT TREES ALONG HIGHWAYS

Michigan Is First State to Offer Reward for Beautifying Its Improved Roadways.

Michigan is the first state to offer a reward for planting nut trees beside highways. In Europe the profit from roadside nut trees assists in maintaining roads. Roadside nut trees abroad are protected from vandalism by public sentiment, and this is true of the nut orchards in the principal centers of production in this country.

Much Money for Roads.

Great Britain is expending $140,000,000 a year on highways.

Improve by Dragging.

Frequent dragging of a dirt road, with the King machine, not only maintains the proper curvature necessary for drainage, but develops a hard, well-packed wearing surface and a firm base, with the result that the road constantly improves instead of deteriorating.

Fines for Overloading.

Fines ranging from $25 to $100 are imposed on offenders who drive overloaded motortrucks on highways in Pennsylvania.

COAL OPERATORS WARNED TO CUT THEIR PRICES

Secretary Fall Gives Veiled Threat That He Will Take Their Mines

Washington, June 12.—A continuation of high prices for coal, or any situation that might culminate in a coal famine this winter will have a strong tendency toward bringing about nationalization of the coal industry. This was the warning statement by Secretary of the Interior Fall tonight.

Secretary Fall also indicated that if the operators wish to avoid such contingency, it would be well for them to accept the terms of the Frelinghuysen bill, which empowers the President to call upon the operators for full information on production costs, working conditions and all other facts connected with the industry, in the event an emergency is encountered.

The operators met with Secretaries Fall and Hoover last Tuesday for a conference on the coal situation, following which the operators announced their willingness to furnish information voluntarily, but expressed opposition to any form of legislation that would make their action compulsory.

This opposition included the terms of the Frelinghuysen measure, which has been favorably reported by the Senate committee to which it was referred, and which Senator Frelinghuysen has announced will be brought before the Senate as soon as pending matters have been disposed of.

TELLS ABOUT ORIGIN OF "TEXAS LEAGUER"

J. Doak Roberts Gives History of Expression.

Disgusted Syracuse Pitcher Gave Vent to Exclamation When Three Recruits Dropped Safeties Back of the Infield.

"Texas leaguers," recruits or stars from the circuit of cities in the Lone Star state making up that association, have wrecked many ball games when they passed on to the major leagues, but the real "Texas leaguer," the hit itself, no matter from what state the player who delivered it came, has wrecked many more day by day, narrations of play have shown for years.

Every fan, from the lad at the knothole to the man in the box seat, knows a "Texas leaguer," when he sees it drop safely just back of the infield and out of reach of the outfielders, but few know the history of the expression.

According to J. Doak Roberts, president of the Texas league, and a man with a lifetime's experience in professional baseball, the expression originated in the early '90s when a disgusted Syracuse pitcher gave vent to "Good Lord! Another of those Texas leaguers!" when Scrappy Bill Joyce, third in a row of three Texas league graduates dropped a short safety back of the Syracuse infield.

The story antedates even the veteran, Roberts, but this is his version of it:

"Emmett Rogers, Scrappy Bill Joyce and Arthur Sunday, three famous players well remembered by all of the old timers, were members of the 1889 team of the Houston club, managed by John McCluskey. They were the first Texas leaguers ever sold to higher company, netting the sum of $400 as a total purchase price.

"The trio were finished stars, past masters in the art of bunting and placing hits. The story goes that in their first game in bigger company they faced O'Brien of Syracuse. Rogers placed a hit over the infield, and the Syracuse defense moved in, expecting Sunday to bunt. Instead Sunday chip-shooted the ball and it dropped just out of the reach of the shortstop, who could not get it back in time.

"Joyce, too, was expected to bunt, but he followed in Sunday's wake, dropping another short hit back of third, scoring Rogers.

"It was then that O'Brien voiced his disgust and coined a new term for baseball."

GALBRAITH IS KILLED IN AUTO

Indianapolis, June 9.—F. W. Galbraith, Jr., National commander of the American Legion, was killed and Henry J. Ryan, of Indianapolis, National director of the Legion's Americanism commission, and Milton J. Foreman, of Chicago, National committeeman of the Legion from Illinois, were injured when an automobile in which they were riding went over a steep embankment today.

The three men were returning to the city from the Country Club in Mr. Ryan's car. The car failed to make a slight turn in the road and ran over the curbing, across the sidewalk and turned over several times, landing at the bottom of a 20-foot embankment. All three men were thrown clear out of the car as it went down.

Mr. Galbraith suffered a fracture of the skull in the fall and died on the way to the hospital.

Col. Galbraith was elected National commander of the Legion September 25. During the war he commanded the First Ohio National Guard, at Camp Sherman, Chillicothe. Subsequently he was transferred to the 147th Infantry and served overseas. By leading his regiment through the lines under fire he won the title of "the fighting colonel."

As head of the American Legion he was active in urging legislation favorable to ex-service men. He was president of the Western Paper Goods Company, of Cincinnati. He passed the entrance examination to Annapolis but never matriculated.

GALBRAITH'S FRIEND VISITS AT OLEAN COLLEGE

Olean, June 13.—Injured while driving the car which overturned and killed Colonel F. W. Galbraith, national commander of the American Legion, last week, Henry Ryan, a former St. Bonaventure's College boy, will be present at the commencement exercises a tthe college this week. His injuries were not serious. Mr. Ryan is in charge of the Americanization work of the American Legion.

"GENTLEMAN" BY NAME, BUT NOT BY NATURE

Bradford, Pa., June 10.—Sarah, eleven years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Zass, is suffering from an injury of a most unusual nature. Wednesday while participating in the "Kiddies Day" events she was bitten on the leg near the knee by Marie Gentleman, of about her own age. The injury was so severe that yesterday it became necessary to have it dressed by a physician.

Sarah states that while the girls were preparing for the sack race she had no sack and asked for the loan of one. Marie flung a saucy remark whereupon Sarah told her to shut up. The former grabbed her by the collar of her sweater and pulled her down and while atop of her bit her leg just above the top of her rolling down stockings. She sunk her teeth well into the flesh and the injury caused Miss Sarah an uncomfortable afternoon. It is possible that prosecution will follow.
